Real Time Racing

Real time racing in Atulos Online is closely tied to the idea of branching of time and space. Split screen races mean that more than one player can participate in races, and joint races means that many races with different players will take place in parallel. The goal is to record the fastest lap time. The races have a different game style to them, and the cars make different sounds as they drive. All players must complete each race in the same place in order for the race to take place.
