Domina is a action adventure indie game that takes place entirely within real time combat, allowing for a hands-on action experience that is unique in the world of virtual games. Your actions and their consequences happen in real time, and if you fail, you can always try again. Change your tactics, take cover, and unleash both close and long range attacks, and take down your opponent in brutal fashion. Your opponent plays the same person, but is a computer controlled monster that has been augmented with cyberware and hails from the future. You must take advantage of the shadows, the open areas, and the unique terrain that you find yourself in, in order to take down your opponent and survive your first battle. You have a wide range of weapons at your disposal, from military grade weapons, to your enemies' weapons. You can choose the order in which you act, the combination of weapons you equip, or even switch to self defense techniques. You will experience both what it is like to fight from each side of the action, in a world where people fight for survival, but also be able to look back and become the victor, to personally watch your friends, teammates, and arch-foes die around you. "Domina" means "dominator" in Latin, so it does not mean domination, but rather domination of the opponent. A spin-off of the "domina" game "spartacus" by the same dev. Key Features: Action-Adventure game-play, with combined close and long range combat. Dynamic movement, dodging, and using cover. Customized gameplay, the choice of weapons, tactics, and orders. Huge variety of weapons, with unique appearance and functions. Command your enemies to retreat, or crush them into dust in real time combat. Play the role of both the intelligent opponent, and the hero, with a wide range of abilities. Face off against the simulators on your arch-foes' profile, and get some practice. Fight on the leaderboards for some fresh winners. Hundreds of hours of gameplay. Enter one of the most chaotic, thrilling, fun, and satisfying multiplayer games on facebook. Domina is a real-time strategy game available on Steam. Realistic and beautifully rendered units behave like living, breathing people. Go on quests to recruit and upgrade units, build settlements, explore the world and conquer ancient civilizations in a Sci-Fi setting. This work contains 45 original tracks recorded by the band bignic. For Domina, we recorded 12 track in one room in a one-day session. Most of them was released on Domina but we just wanted to create a bigger piece that only contains tracks by Domina. All tracks were recorded in French. No subtitles were added. We use a lot of retriggers and synths to create this totally unique sound. It really gives a consistent feel to the game, even if it sounds strange at first listen. Pack includes:- 90 MB of content.- Music for 1.75 hours of gameplay Credits:- Domina development: Ancienne Garde Thanks for playing Domina, (Original music by bignic -)/ * Licensed to the Apache Software Foundation (ASF) under one * or more contributor license agreements. What's new in Domina - Official Soundtrack:

Album Price Color Honey comes back! With Dominica! - Davina is the sweetest face in the world, and she wants to dance and do video games! Reviews : There are no reviews yet. GIF's of the day (if you like this) LINKS TO December 13, 2012 When I first started this project, my goal was to make a fully posable babe. I remember seeing the Holo Hiroka Beta version from 2008, and did not realise what they were trying to achieve with that pose. 13 years later, I still marvel at it. This pose is a pose that I have never used and many people may struggle to do, however, I want to try and address some of the issues the pose has. Firstly, the knee...I wanted to think this through as I pose the pose, and get real feedback. I lower the leg, and try to straighten it. Each time I raise the leg higher, it likes to remain bent. This is fine, however, from a novelty perspective, I don't like that. I thought I would try and make this pose easier, however, this issue remains. One of the issues with Dominica's default pose is that her head is too tall. I want to encourage artists to make poses more original, but fair and I would not be happy to see that unique creativity being copied by plagiarism. As an artist and a listener, for my beloved song you have created then I would hate to see any of those poses used over the sample. I would hate for faves of mine to be ripped off as this pose of Dominica is. I want to encourage artists to make tools for artists, please look at other otakus like

Genauechan, and like Toyboxer and toyshop11 to see what is possible for a studio to be able to do. I myself have never been much of a figure painter, at least into the depths of hollywood. The likelihood of working fulltime in the shape of a female does not appeal to me that much. However I would say that I am the type who will learn. I like to guide myself on tutorials and such. Right now I am playing figure painter after figure painter to try and figure out how they do it and then I can teach myself and find some things to improve upon and learn. I want to dedicate this update not just to you, my beloved listeners, but also to all
