Category:All-American Girls Professional Baseball League playersQ: VS2013 - Cannot resolve ADO.Net provider - vb.net DataGrid I am currently working on a project that was developed in Visual Studio 2012. We are slowly converting the project to Visual Studio 2013. One of the big changes we are facing is the ability to use "Entity Framework" to do all of our database connections and entity-mapping. We are using the model first approach to build our database. In Visual Studio 2013 we have not been able to resolve all of the dependencies that previously existed in Visual Studio 2012. Some of these are still not working with Entity Framework, but the major problem we are having is that the System.Data.DataSet and System.Data.DataAdapter classes cannot be resolved. The DataAdapter class is needed for building the DataSet. Error 1 The type or namespace name 'DataAdapter' does not exist in the namespace 'System.Data' C:\Users\xg\Documents\Visual Studio 2013\Projects\RemainingBudget\RemainingBudget\Project1.vb 64 17 RemainingBudget We have updated the references in our project and rebuilt the solution. We have even manually specified the references by clicking on the "add reference" link on the project properties page. Does anyone have any thoughts or suggestions on what we might be missing? A: Entity Framework has changed the required namespaces. To resolve the DataAdapter you need to make a change in your project: Under the namespace System.Data.Entity.Model, you will need to add: System.Data.Entity.Model.Schema Then, under the namespace System.Data.Entity.Model you will add: System.Data.Entity.Model.DataModel Finally, under the namespace System.Data.Entity you will add: System.Data.Entity.Design Q: Sed to extract particular html tag from file I have the below kind of html content
