You have to install a different keyboard to use it in your computer. To install a different keyboard, go to Settings menu, select "Keyboard and regional settings" and select the desired language from "Text and input" section. London has been battered by 50mph winds that have felled trees and caused travel chaos. Powerful gusts swept across the capital as the Met Office issued a yellow "be aware" weather alert for most of the country. London bustles: How to stow your scarves It's full steam ahead in London this month as Spring - and a chance to escape the draughts - turns into Summer. From scarves and gloves to bags and shoes, the capital is overflowing with luggage this weekend. The usual advice is simple: stay safely outside, keep an eye on your items and leave your 'Junglies' at home. But with the mercury poised to soar this weekend, the Met Office has pulled out all the stops. Espionage experts have revealed that the closest spying devices to the Houses of Parliament are microwave dishes. Their range of more than six kilometres is way beyond the reach of GCHQ, the UK Government's signals intelligence centre. A spokeswoman for the Met Office said: "It is easy to find out whether a room in an office block contains a listening device. "The nearest one to the House of Commons was switched on in 2005 and is at the end of the corridor leading to the Strangers' Gallery. "It is a GMII (General Mobile Internal Interception) facility which generates FM radio waves to pierce the walls and pick up conversations." Do you have a picture of a household item
